ASTHMA-CATARRH
AND BRONCHITIS

Can Be Greatly Relieved by the New External Vapor Treatment.

Melt in a spoon a little Vick's "Vapo-O-Rub" Croup and Pneumonia Salve and inhale the vapors. Put a little up each nostril and at night apply well over throat and chest, covering with a warm flannel cloth. Leave the covering loose around the neck so that the vapors of Menthol, Thymol, Eucalyptol, Camphor, and Pine Tar, that are released by the body heat, may be inhaled all night long. In Asthma and Hay Fever rub Vick's over the spinal column to relax the nervous tension. This treatment is not a "cure" but it has at least the merit of containing no harmful drugs and it is sold by all druggists in 25c, 50c, and $1.00 jars, on 30 days' trial. Vick's is also excellent for all croup and cold troubles.—Advertisement.

The Lack of Stamina and Vitality

In the birds is the cause of 95% of the failures in the poultry business. Therefore, see to it that you are one of the successful 5% this year by putting your birds on this economical scientific Hen-o-la system that produces Stamina and Vitality, convalesced by giving it a thorough trial.

Let us send you report from Prof. Horace A. Wood, of Morgantown, W. Virginia, Exp. Sta., who is one of the highest authorities on poultry husbandry. He has fed 31,000 lbs. "Hen-o-la" during past four years and is still feeding same.

The above system makes poultry-keeping wonderfully simple and cheap.

If your dealer will not supply you, please write us for full information and prices on "Hen-o-la" "Hen-e-ta" Dry Mash and "Succulenta" tablets—green food substitute.

THEORY

That Apple Rust is Caused by Fermented Sap is Explained by Plant Man.

MORGANTOWN, Jan. 28.—In spite of the conclusive experiments performed by the plant pathologists at the agricultural experiment station of the West Virginia University and regardless of the fact that the destruction of cedar trees has actually stopped apple rust in many orchards, it is still common to hear dissenters advance other theories to account for the presence of apple rust. The latest of these to come to the attention of the station and one which actually received considerable support in Berkeley county attributed the rust to a fermentation of sap caught in the higher twigs when freezing weather sets in. Since this theory was given some little newspaper attention plant pathologist A. J. Giddings replied in part as follows:

"The relationship of the cedar apples to the rust disease of the apple has been clearly shown by numerous experiments which this department has conducted in Berkeley county, during the last three seasons. The results of these experiments have been given in bulletins, press articles and talks. Nevertheless the theorists can always find something new to suggest and we feel well pleased if we can succeed in convincing a few such gentlemen of the real truth."

"During the spring of 1913 the young twigs of York Imperial apple trees showed one or two very slightly infected leaves among the first six or eight which unfolded from each leaf bud. The remaining leaves out to that point were entirely free from rust. Then came two or three leaves which were badly infected, each having from twenty-five to 300 rust spots. At the very tip there were frequently one or two leaves which were entirely free from infection. These results were secured by making counts on over 100 twigs taken from different trees. It fermented sap inside the trees, was the cause it is difficult to understand why this sap should have been distributed to one or two of the first leaves in such minute quantity and to two or three leaves near the tip of the bud in such excessive amount. There were some leaves at the extreme tip and others back a little way which were perfectly free from rust."

"How do we explain this infection? The rust spots on the leaves were caused by the development of fungus spores which were carried from the cedar apple to the apple when weather conditions favored. The first infection, which was slight, took place about the middle of April, just as the leaf buds were opening. The second and severe infection took place on the fifteenth day of May when the first six or eight leaves were just expanding. Specimens were collected and preserved every two or three days during the spring so that we might know the stage of development of the foliage and rust spots at any date."

"Have the spores ever been taken from the cedar apples and placed upon the apple leaves to see if they would cause rust? Yes indeed, many times. These experiments must be conducted during moist, dark days as such weather is essential to the proper development of the fungus spores. Inoculations have been made by rubbing a moist gelatinous cedar apple over some young apple leaves and then covering the leaves and twigs with a paper sack. Such leaves become almost completely covered with rust spots in about two or three weeks, while other twigs on the same tree covered at the same time show none, or comparatively few. The above experiment is simple and convincing and may easily be performed by any doubter. If you try to remember that it must be performed during dull, rainy weather, that the spores must be put on young apple trees of a variety that is susceptible to rust, that the twigs must be marked and covered at the same time for comparison and that it requires three weeks for the spots to develop large enough to be readily noticed. We could give many examples along these lines from our work of the last two or three seasons but it hardly seems necessary. We have accurate records of the work upon which the above statements are based and we feel that they contain sufficient proof to convince any reasonable being of the relationship between cedar apples and apple rust.

BUSY YEAR

Present One is to Be in Sunday
School Circles in West Virginia.

There is unusual activity along Sunday school lines in West Virginia. For the second time in the history of the state, the West Virginia Sunday School Association will hold a county convention in every county of the state. Already fifty-four have been held with an attendance of 13,745.

The last convention will be held in Ohio county on March 12 and 13. A very large number of workers have been instructed at the district conventions and other Sunday school gatherings.

The state convention will be held at Huntington, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, April 8, 9 and 10. The city is making great preparation and some of the most illustrious Sunday school workers in the world will be present.

Prof. E. A. Excell and his famous accompanist will lead the singing. The World's Sunday School Association, of which the Hon. H. J. Heinz, of Pittsburg, is chairman, and Mr. Marion Lawrence, of Chicago, is secretary, is sending a famous tour party to the state February 5.

The party is composed of Bishop J. C. Hartzell, of Funchal, Madeira, Bishop of Africa; the Rev. C. T. Frickson, of Albania, who has been imprisoned and exiled, and who knows what the blood red horrors of Turkish atrocity are; and Mr. Frank L. Brown, field secretary of the World's Association and secretary of the Commission to the Orient. They will hold six sessions in Wheeling in the interests of Mohammedan childhood.

Dr. Franklin McElfresh, of Chicago, international teacher training superintendent, will spend three days in the state. On Thursday, February 5, he will be at Huntington, on the sixth at Charleston, and on the seventh he will be in Roncove in the interests of trained workmen. General Secretary Arnold is holding a series of meetings in Wood county at Waverly, Williamstown and Parkersburg, beginning January 27.

CHRISTOPHER

Is Arranged before Judge Sturgiss But He Is Not Ready for Trial.

MORGANTOWN, Jan. 28.—William P. Christopher appeared in court yesterday upon the order of Judge George W. Sturgiss during the call of the trial docket, which was taken up at the opening of court. After the calling of the trial docket Judge Sturgiss asked Christopher if he desired a trial at this term of court, reminding him that the term was now nearing the close and that he hoped to finish all jury trials this week.

Mr. Christopher stepped to the bar of the court and told the court that he had no attorney in court to represent him and that he did not care to say what course he would pursue in the matter. He told the court that he expected F. C. Pifer, of Huntington, and Adam Littlepage, of Charleston, to represent him in the case, and that he would communicate with them as quickly as possible and notify the court not later than Thursday.
